

A technical line drawing of a lathe machine, viewed from the side. The machine consists of a headstock on the left, a lathe bed in the middle, and a tailstock on the right. A tool post is mounted on the tailstock. The drawing shows the main components and their relative positions.

